This statement was not forthcoming and is as follows:

To the People of Crittenden county: list from $2,500 to $5,000. It has been reported that threats and anonymous letters are being circulated in Crittenden county.

Now, we are not familiar with the Blue & Nunn conditions in Crittenden county. The Park Tobacco Growers Association has no organization in that county and consequently no officers who can help manage the situation; but we can assure the people of that county that this association does not endorse uch methods and will do all in the bounds of reason to prevent lawlessness of every kind and to restore peace and good will among the Signed.

Canyon, City, Tex., Jan. 9, 1907. DEAR MASRHALL

Press coming regular now. We are glad to get it. We have had nothing but spring weather since we came to the Panhandle of Texas, you ought to be out here and enjoy the fine weather with us. Land is very tich, will grow anything you plant. No hills, no rocks, no bushes or vines fine climate. Plenty of good water for man and beast. Land cheap yet, but going up all the time. Anyone who bought a section of land January 1st 1906 for $4000 is now worth $8000 and can be sold for this amount. Hundreds of men are coming here from the north and east and buying this land. This land will advance 86 or more on the acre before this

This land is too good to stay down | Wm. Cisco where it is. This is a big country F. M. Clement and thinly settled. Taxes are $10 Lee F. White to $12 per section of 640 acres for one year. How is that? Well, Marshall this is a purely farming prairie country, fifty bushels of wheat was grown per acre near this town in 1906. Alfalta, corn, kaffir corn, maize and in fact everything in here to show for itself. Fruit and vegetables and small berries do excellent. The man that buys some of this dirt now is the man that makes the money. Jo Well I must close for this time. Hope Jo you all had a merry Xmas.

NOTICE.

MARION, KY., Jan. 15, 1907.

TO HOLDERS OF OUR TOBACCO CONTRACTS:

We recognize both a legal and moral obligation to fulfill our contract; therefore, beg to advise that we are now ready to accept delivery, at our Marion factory, of all tobacco purchased by us, under contract from the growers of this vicinity.

In this connection will say, that after having received our outstanding purchases we stand ready to handle pooled tobacco, should the growers of Crittenden county organize and wish us to do so.

THE LITTLE FAMIL

There was a little family who lived in Bethany; Two sisters and a brother composed the family. With prayer and with singing like Angels in the sky, At morning and evening they raised their voices high.

They lived in peace and pleasure for many lonely years And laid away their treasures beyond this vale of tears. Though poor and without money their kindness made amends, Their house was ever open to Jesus and his friends.

III.

Although they lived so happy, so kind, so pure and good, Their brother was afflicted and by it thrown in bed. Poor Martha and her sister they wept aloud and cried, But still he grew no better, he lingered on and died.

The Jews came to the sisters, laid Lazarus in the tomb, And tried for to comfort and drive away their gloom. When Jesus heard the tiding far in a distant land, So swiftly did he travel to see that lonely band.

And while he was a coming, Martha met him on the way And told him that her brother had died and passed away. He blessed and he cheered her and told her not to weep For in him was the power to raise him from his sleep.

Yet while he was a coming, Mary met him too, Down at his feet a weeping, rehearsed the tale of woe. When Jesus saw her weeping he fell a weeping too, And wept until they showed him where Lazarus was entombed.

VII.

He rolled away the cover and looked upon the grave, And prayed unto his Father his friend Lazarus to save. And Lazarus in full power came from the gloomy mound And in full life and vigor he walked upon the ground.

VIII.

So all you who love Jesus and do his Holy will, Like Mary and like Martha, you'll always use him well, He'll comfort and redeem you and take you to the skies And bid you live forever where pleasure never dies.

"I was taken with epileptic fits; had eleven in less than 12 hours. My father sent for our family physician, but he could do very little for me, and I grew worse every day, and at last they had three doctors with me, and I still got worse. My father heard of Dr. Miles' medicines and bought a bottle of Nervine and a box of Nerve and Liver Pills, I had taken only a few doses until I began to feel better. I took 12 bottles, and it cured me sound and well. It has been worth all the world to me. I recommend it wherever I go. Story of the Wonderful Development in Electric Traction During the Past Twenty Years.

Gradual Elimination of Distance Through the Development of the Electric Locomotive-Chicago to New York in Ten

That was less than twenty years ago. Today the New York Central Railroad Company is expending $50,-300,000 in the electrification of the first thirty-five miles of its system, and the car horses were long ago relegated to the boneyard, if not to the "sausage tactory.' "They" have done marvelous things since the increasing knowledge of electricity opened up a new world of schievement, and we have scarcely crossed the threshold. In 1880 the electric car was a dream; in 1890, an experiment: in 1900, a great and wonderful fact which is revolutionizing passenger transportation and will enable buman beings to move from place to place twice as fast as they do at pres-

When in 1834 Thomas Davenport, of Brandon, Vt., ran a toy motor mounted on wheels on a small circular railway, the modern electric railroad with its possible speed of over one hundred miles an hour was born.

In 1838 Robert Davidson, of Aberleen, Scotland, built an electric locomotive which actually reached a speed of four miles an hour on the Edin-

The First Electric Railroad.

The first regular electric line to be established was at Lichterfelde, Germany, near Berlin. It was only a mile traffic in May 1881. The trains carried twenty-six passengers, at a maximum speed of thirty miles an hour.

The first electric car to be operated regularly in the United States was installed by Deft on the Hamden branch of the Baltimore Union Passenger Railway in August, 1886. That was barely twenty years ago. great as the skepticism of the public and railway men generally that the contract under which the road was built withheld payment one year so that it might be determined whether the cars would run. "No one but a knave or a fool would undertake such a thing," said a well known scientist at the time. Scientists sometimes have trouble keeping up with the procession. Numerous other experiments followed, all commercial failures because the motors were crude and the source of power a primary battery. The derelopment of the wonderful modern lynamo was necessary before electric railroading could become a commercial success. The first great step was in 1860, when an Italian named Pacinotti invented a continuous current dynamo. Three years later the first practical commercial machine for continuous current operation was made

Still the modern electric car was impossible. The "reversibility of function" had yet to be discovered, involving electrical transmission of energy through two machines, one driven by power and generating electricity; the other reversing the operation, receiving electricity and developing me-

This company, headed by a group of practical railroad men, proposes to run limited trains, making not more than three stops, through to New 1 ork or Chicago, in ten hours. The thought fairly takes one's breath away at first, but the project considered soberly seems practical enough, and certainly is "a consummation devoutly to be wished." The work of grading began Sept. 1 near LaPorte, Ind.

The Scientific American of Feb. 18, 1905, speaking editorially of the New lork Central experiment, says, "The success of this installation, of which there can be no doubt whatever, marks the first step in the gradual substitution of the electric for the steam locomotive in the operation of long distance express trains." The Chicago-New York project may be regarded the second step.

Mr. Sprague himself says that speed is "a matter of finance." "What then will determine the future?" he asks. "Chiefly the financial factor, as it must the future of any other great industrial problem. When savings in operation and the increased return for traffic will more than pay a fair dividend on money invested for electrical equipment, will trunk lines be operated by electricity."

Professor Charles P. Steinmetz, one of the greatest authorities on electricity, is quoted as saying, "There is no limit to the speed that may be developed in electric traction-that is, there is no limit up to 150 or 200 miles an hour. Higher speed than that the car wheels could not stand. They would fly to pieces from centrifugal ferce. ### The Dog's Mistake

A clown had a bulldog over whom he smeared a lot of paste and then covered him from head to feet with feathers. It made a very funny looking fellow of the dog, and everybody went to the circus to see him. They sold many pictures of themselves, and when the people put the money on the stage the clown would pick it up and keep it to buy food for them both and pay their board

"Why should the clown take the money?" said the dog to himself. "I am the show, and I should have all the money I make."

So he bit the clown on the leg and sent him home howling with pain. Then the dog waited for people to come and buy his pictures. They came and took his pictures, but instead of manifested on every hand and we A Thousand Dollars Worth of Good paying for them left the show without giving any money. The dog barked at them, but his chain was so short he could not bite them, and they simply

As it is Sunday evening and somehow or other I don't feel inclined to go to church I don't know of a better pastime than to write to my many friends in dear old Marion and vicinity through the Press.

At the beginning I will say that I am getting along nicely and best of all enjoying life. I am to give to the readers a faint idea of the true side of stage life. It is not by any means all pleasure and pastime, as is thought by so many people, but a work-a study never over. The actor and actress of today are unjustly condemned by the poople of the south by being classed morally and virtually belaw the average man and woman. This is by looking not at the bright side of the life of a performer. Of course there is the bad as well as the good in every profession in life.

I once knew a man who said he didn't go to the theatre because it was no longer interesting or entertaining and when I asked how long since he had been in a theatre and he replied "twenty-five years." was not at all surprised. How many people are there I wonder, who really realize the importance of the stage. 1 once heard a clergyman say that the theatre preaches eight times a weeks to its great audience. When he preached but once or twice a week to small congregations, and this good clegeman realized how the theatre could breed patriotism and inculcate truth and teach the ethics of life, in a little way or big way according to its example. The theatre can do and it does these thing and it gives to us all the touch of romance we all love. Just how great the theatre-the play is to become rest with you. The public, for of the theatre and the play the public is the true uplifter or con-

The great play appeals to the mind and heart, but not all good plays wirghts have the happy faculty of writing plays that appeal to both mind heart and as for the theatrica profession I expect to remain on the "boards" I love the work both music and theatrical.

My hopes of becoming a "star" are very slim but there is plenty of room below the top rounds for me, of course with most of us it is "come day go day God send Sunday." I have made friends since I first started on the road, that the friendship of such people alone makes a mans life worth living.

Little old Marion is all right, is very dear to me and holds many happy rememberances for me, but it is too slow to hold any future charms for me, only, of course parential.

I get a Press very seldom and when it does arrive it is a very pleasant

I will close with best wishes to you Mr. Jenkins and a happy new year to my friends and a good night Sincerely yours,

Tenn And Peter Frog felt very superior to the other frogs, and he went home with a nice little roll of music under his arm which a linnet had written out Miss for him on a leaf, intending to practice bird songs, while all the other frogs were bellowing and shouting in chorus. At last the day of the contest came. The oldest bullfrog announced that there would be diving, swimming and shouting contests. Peter Frog. was his own nephew, and he had hoped that ND. Peter might win the prize. "Get in there! Why don't you jump in?" he shouted, as Peter stood about with his toadstool umbrella over him and his RFD little roll of music under his arm.
